

EDITORIAL

The editorial board is thrilled to publish the twenty-third issue of Object: Graduate Research and Reviews in the History of Art and Visual Culture. Since its inception in 1998, Object has been produced by postgraduate students in the Department of History of Art, UCL. Over the course of its run, the journal has maintained three central objectives: to share the most current research developed within the department to a broad audience (now made even wider by its digital platform), to encourage discussion and debate around new ideas and narratives in the discipline, and to review recent books and exhibitions pertinent to students' research.

The ongoing status of Object as an accredited journal relies upon a rigorous process of external peer review, ensuring we place our scholarship within relevant art historical discourses. The review panel consists of former postgraduate students and friends of the department who hold academic posts and curatorial positions in the United Kingdom. They have generously shared their time, knowledge, and expertise, and we are sincerely grateful to them for their contributions and collaboration. In their capacity as members of the advisory board, we warmly thank the staff of the Department of History of Art, and in particular, Richard Taws and Rose Marie San Juan for their invaluable support and guidance. We would also like to thank past contributors and members of the editorial board, as well as present members and external reviewers, for making the journal such an important part of the postgraduate experience at UCL. Finally, a debt of gratitude is owed to Andrew Brown of Art /Books, whose distinctive design has given Object its visual identity from its first issue, and to UCL Press, whose efforts have made the online publication of Object possible.

Daisy Clery, Talia Kwartler, and Daisy Silver

---

Published annually by the Department of History of Art, University College London

This is an Open Access journal distributed under the terms of the Creative Commons Attribution License (CC-BY) 4.0 <https://creativecommons.org/licenses/by/4.0/>, which permits unrestricted use, distribution, and reproduction in any medium, provided the original author and source are credited.

Articles © 2022 the contributors

Journal © 2022 Department of History of Art, University College London

Every effort has been made to trace copyright holders and to obtain their permission for the use of copyright material.

ISSN (ONLINE) 2396-9008

Design and typesetting by Cheshire Typesetting, Cuddington, Cheshire

Front Cover:
Gustav Metzger, Liquid Crystal Environment (detail). 1965, 2005. 5 control units, liquid crystals and slide, 35 mm, 5 projections, colour. Modern Art Oxford. Courtesy The Estate of Gustav Metzger. © The Estate of Gustav Metzger and The Gustav Metzger Foundation. Photo: Modern Art Oxford, United Kingdom.